Albany, N. Y., March 17 (A.P.).—The New York Senate honored St. Patrick today. The day's calendar, a forty-four-page document, was printed in green ink.

Governor Smith appeared at his office wearing a green tie, green hosiery, and shirt with green stripes. One handkerchief had a green border and another had his initials worked in green thread. CHEERS FOR THRONG IN SOUTH BOSTON PARADE

More than 100,000 men, women and children formed two cheering human lanes through which 10,000 sailors, soldiers, marines and cadets marched in South Boston, this afternoon, in the feature event of the 151st celebration of the evacuation of Boston by the British.

Governor Fuller, Lieutenant-Governor Allen, Mayor Nichols and other State and city leaders of high and low degree graced the celebration with their presence, while the high silk hats, that have featured the South Boston celebrations for a quarter of a century, were everywhere in evidence.

The plans of the officials in charge of the parade were carried through without a hitch of any kind. The crowds that lined the streets were in excellent humor and the police reserves who were in duty from every station in Boston, had little to do.

Trees, roofs, billboards and high fences along the route of parade were used as vantage points from which a multitude of small boys

NEW 'L' CONTROL BILL TO SAVE $1,000,000 A YEAR

Extension of public control of the Boston Elevated lines for another twenty-five years, and a revised financing policy that would save over $1,000,000 a year in interest and taxes, was favored today by the legislative committees on metropolitan affairs and street railways.

Of the thirty members of the two committees, eight, it is understood, will present a dissenting report to the Legislature.

The revised policy of financing recommended by the committes provides that the interest on the common stock be reduced from 6 per cent., the present rate, to 5½ per cent., an annual saving of $199,397.

The present preferred stock of the Elevated, which bears interest at 7 and 8 per cent., would be converted into forty-year debenture bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 4½ per cent., effecting an annual saving in interest of $454,050.

The conversion of the preferred stock would save $225,990 in Federal income taxes and would also save an annual State franchise tax amounting to $262,375. All told, the bill would save a total of $1,061,812 in interest and taxes.

Of the money that would be saved annually, $750,000 would be used for about three years to accumulate a sum to repay the cities and towns the deficits which have been assessed against them.

With the amortization of the debenture bonds, as provided for in the bill, a sum of $2,133,000 set apart for preferred stock purposes would be available for new rolling stock and other equipment and improvements.

After the cities and towns had been paid, the yearly saving would be used for extinsion work at Lechmere and Maverick squares and Huntington avenue, and for rentals and charges on a Governor square subway.

The committee discussed the bill in executive session, today, and the bill now goes to the floor of the Legislature for action.

LEGAL TO CARRY "REASONABLE AMOUNT" OF RUM

When a citizen of Massachusetts is toting a "reasonable amount" of liquor on his person, for example a pint or a quart of moonshine, he cannot be convicted of illegal transportation, according to Judge Ralph W. Reeve of the Lynn Court. Judge Reeve today discharged two Swampscott young men, James Ward and Joseph Marino, who were arrested in an auto in which less than a quart of liquor was found. The Swampscott police had confiscated the auto and charged the men with illegal transportation.

SWEDISH and Dutch companies will work iron mines in North Africa, containing marvelously pure iron, and a low percentage of phosphorus.

Plenty of water power goes to waste in Africa, and electric power, according to a recent announcement, can now be carried one thousand miles. If the Swedes and Dutchmen can connect their African iron mines with cheap electric power and manufacture it by the new electric process, they may cause those learned gentlemen, Gary, Farrell, Schwab and Grace, to think hard and ask for a higher tariff.

12 U. S. INSPECTORS HIT IN HUB BAD BEEF PROBE

The fact that 12 federal food inspectors assigned to Boston have been suspended from the service for passing diseased beef and that the federal government is investigating Boston beef supply sources because of the small average of condemned cows was brought out in municipal court today.

Dr. P. H. Mullowney of the city health department, in his prosecution of George T. Weaver, of Acton, charged with offering for sale tubercular beef, brought to light the startling fact of the suspension and that Boston's meat supply, originating in the state, is under suspicion. Most of the beef sold in Boston, however, is western beef.

Weaver's case was taken under advisement by Judge Duff. Dr. Mullowney charged that Weaver had slaughtered a tubercular cow after he knew the cow was suffering from a disease. The meat was sent to Boston.

According to Dr. Mullowney, the beef was on sale in a market in North street. Chief Inspector John J. Mahoney discovered a fore-quarter which he thought was diseased and ordered the proprietor not to sell it. The Heath Department then seized it. It was later traced to Weaver.

WOMAN GIVEN 6 YEARS ON BAD CHECK CHARGES

Sylvia Parshley of Somerville, the woman who is alleged to have stolen from a Boston florist by tendering a worthless check in payment for flowers ordered for the funerals of the executed carbarn slayers, was today sentenced to serve six years for other similar larcenies.

As in the case of the florist, she was charged with victimizing various concerns by ordering things delivered to various addresses and paying for them with worthless checks, on which she would receive from $10 upwards in change.

She was found guilty of four larcenies of this sort by a jury in Superior Court at East Cambridge. Judge Broadhurst gave her two six-year sentences, but they will run concurrently.

WARM SPELL TO STAY IN HUB 24 HRS.; THEN COOL

A storm belt appearing early today between Minnesota and Tennessee threatens to spoil the current New England spell of warmth and sunshine, according to the prediction of the weather man.

The high barometric pressure, parent of clear skies and crisp air, moved off the Atlantic coast through the night, its place being slowly taken by the low pressure of the Minnesota-Tennessee disturbance.

Greater Boston, however, is assured of continued pleasant weather for 24 hours longer at least, and there is a possibility that the rising storm threat may be dissipated in its passage to the Atlantic seaboard.

South Boston in Gala Dress ∾ As Thousands Flock to See ∾ Evacuation Day Parade revelled in the thrill of the passing soldiers.

Governor Fuller, accompanied by Lieutenant-Governor Allen, was early on the scene and the chief executive received generous applause along the line of march.

District Attorney Foley, a native of South Boston, was also uproariously greeted by the home town folks.

While there was nothing scheduled for the morning hours, the vanguard of the parade crowd made its way to South Boston long before noon, and when 2 o'clock arrived and Chief Marshal Charles D. Martin gave the command for the long parade to march, every vantage point along the line of parade was packed with humanity.

Many celebrations in former years were marred by cold, disagreeable weather. Previous parades have even had to brave mid-winter blizzards to cover the line of march, but today's weather was perfect.

Overcoats and heavy clothes were left at home—Spring finery were everywhere in evidence, and the holiday spirit of the throngs rose to corresponding pitch.

Official business in Boston was practically at a standstill and there was a general exodus from City Hall to South Boston, headed by Mayor Nichols and members of his official family.

The big parade was composed almost entirely of military and allied organizations, with the Massachusetts National Guard furnishing the greatest number of marchers.

All differences over the pay of the soldiers for last year's parade were adjusted and they entered heart and soul into the spirit of today's celebration.

Extra police were detailed to South Boston for the celebration, the influx of automobiles threatening a traffic tieup, but the streets were kept open, although the lines of traffic were compelled to proceed at a snail's pace. The Elevated and motor-bus lines were crowded to their capacity throughout the afternoon.

State and city leaders of government, a short time after the parade got under way, took up their places in the reviewing stand at the corner of Broadway and F street. The members of the reviewing party were liberal in the applause they bestowed on the marching units.

In the entire line of parade, no organization received more applause than the handful of Civil War veterans who were carried in automobiles. The number of the veterans was pitifully small.

The Gold Star mothers were also acclaimed along the line of march, while cheers and applause were not lacking for each of the service organizations.

Following the parade, all that remains of the celebration program is the annual banquet of the South Boston Citizens Association, which will be held at the Elks Hotel tonight.

Colonel Hanford MacNider, assistant secretary of the navy, is expected to fly here from Philadelphia, arriving at the East Boston airport at 6 p. m. He will be the principal speaker at the banquet, which will mark the conclusion of the day's activities.

GEN. APPLETON HEADS IRISH CHARITABLE

The new chairman's guard of honor consisted of Past Presidents James E. Cotter, John Sullivan, Patrick O'Loughlin, Edward A. McLoughlin, Michael Carney, Richard J. Lane and John Dore.

Cosgrave and Valera in Greetings of Day

By WILLIAM T. COSGRAVE
President of the Irish Free State
(Written for International News Service)

DUBLIN, March 17.—With the coming of the national festival, the minds and hearts of men and women of Irish blood turn to their mother country with renewed affection and hopes for her advancement and prosperity with renewed vigor.

The Irish nation which has borne many centuries of stress and trial has now reached smoother waters and the energies of the people, long dissipated in a struggle for mere existence, are now being directed towards setting their country in its rightful position among the nations.

By EAMON DE VALERA
President of the "Irish Republic"
(Written Expressly for International News Service)

New York, March 17.—St. Patrick's Day is for the Irishman, wherever he may be, a day of thought for the Motherland.

For the exile, a day of sorrowful musing and wistful longing perhaps, but for all a day of pride for the race whose constancy in the faith of Patrick centuries of persecution have not weakened and whose devotion to noble ideals all the buffeting of adversity has not lessened.

ALL ERIN JOINS IN TRIBUTE TO ST. PATRICK

Dublin, March 17 (A.P.)—Erin is wearing the green today for St. Patrick. From Cork to Belfast and from Dublin to the emerald vales of the west, little sprigs of shamrock are seen everywhere.

All the Saorstat is taking a holiday favored by perfect holiday weather. All business activities in the Free State have stopped and the day is given over to religious services and celebrating. It was remarked that St. Patrick's Day is just like Sunday, with the exception that the Dublin saloons are not open.

Clear weather brought out unusual large congregations to early morning masses, after which the time was devoted to enjoyment.

The principal feature of the Dublin celebration was the parade of the Saorstat troops of the Eastern command. Marching through streets lined by vast crowds the army of the Irish Free State made a fine showing.

Everything was spick-and-span about the field pieces, armored cars and Army wagons while the trimly uniformed troops marched with fine precision and plenty of swing to the Irish music of the famous Army band.

The troops marched to College Green, where the minister of defense took the salute.

Oratory played a minor part in the observance of this St. Patrick's Day, although the sermons in both the Protestant and Catholic churches were in Gaelic. Music replaced speech-making to a great extent.

Timothy Michael Healy, governor-general of the Free State, President Cosgrave and several members of the cabinet and other high officials went to Ballsbridge, outside Dublin, to attend a concert of works of Irish composers played by Irish musicians.

RICH 'GUN-GIRL' WILL STAND MIND TEST

The scheduled arraignment in Springfield tomorrow of Elsie Maude Morrell, Belmont heiress, charged with carrying a loaded revolver, wast postponed today following Miss Morrell's decision to enter Psychopathic Hospital for a ten-day observation period.

Miss Morrell announced her intention following a conference with her physician, Dr. Charles I. Porter of Canton, and her attorney, Charles M. Rogerson of Boston.

Attorney Rogerson declined to state what action had been taken in the Springfield court case and Dr. Porter refused to comment on the medical aspect of the case.

Miss Morrell, however, admitted she had agreed to undergo observation of her mental condition.

"I have talked the matter over with Dr. Porter and my attorney," she said, "and have voluntarily decided to go to the Psychopathic Hospital for ten days. By doing so, I shall set at rest for all time these malicious allegations of insanity."

AUTHOR GIVES HUB SAGE TIPS ON GREATNESS

The Bible should be read in every Boston office each morning; it would make for better business.

The Bible is the most modern book in the world today.

It is the greatest source of pure English.

New England is entering upon a new era of prosperity and national importance.

Millions of dollars spent annually in Europe might be more usefully spent in New England.

New England railroads have a more thrilling story to tell than those of California, and should be telling it.

In millions of Americans there is a little spark of New England.

These are some of the "bon mo.." of Bruce Barton, author of "The Man Nobody Knows," and high-priest of advertising, as told today to members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon and to a Boston Evening American reporter.

To members of the Chamber he talked on the subject of advertising New England while to a representative of this newspaper he discussed the Bible.

"As proof that the Bible is the most modern book in the world," said Mr. Barton, "let's take up any subject—prohibition, for instance. You can get good material for debate on both sides. In 'Proverbs' you read, 'Look not on wine while it is red.' Then, on the light wine and beer side you have, 'Take a little wine for your stomach's sake' from St. Paul.

NOAH GOT "STEWED!"

"The Biblical quotations show very definitely that the prohibition problem is as old as the human race and that some sort of regulation is necessary. There is the classic case of Noah, who did the biggest service of any man for the human race—by saving it. Then, after his great service he proceeded to get shame-

STUDY YOUNG PRISONERS IN PREVENTION OF CRIME

PAROLE SYSTEM GREAT HELP, SAYS BATES

Massachusetts experts hope to make great progress in the prevention of crime by analysis and comparison of the lives of delinquent youths with those of normal youths, Sanford Bates, State Commissioner of Correction and a member of the Hearst Crime Commission declared today at the Public Service Institute being held at Technology.

"Exhaustive study is being made of the records of youthful prisoners as made out by the Department of Mental Diseases, Division of Examination of Prisoners," he said. "A second study is being made of the lives of a large body of non-delinquent youths.

"These two important analyses will afford us comparable information to be used to ascertain the presence of oft-recurring contributive factors to crime, and once the so-called causes of crime are known the Department will turn its attention to the promotion of the results of its studies.

PAROLE SYSTEM.

"It is in this way that the Massachusetts Department of Correction will make complete its functions in the prevention of crime.

"Through the education and training of prisoners and the parole system, this Department also functions for the protection of society by its treatment of the wrong-doer.

"Upon the release of a prisoner under the parole system, the State continues its supervision of the life and activities of the individual. He is assisted in his readjustment to life and thus every effort is made to prevent recurrence of life pattern conducive of anti-social activities.

"The parole system is, therefore, a potent agent for the provocation of crime."

'LOST' HEIRESS' AUNT FOUND IN MUNICH

Mrs. Emily Nolan Prieth, aunt of Lucienne St. John Nolan, daughter of a Wollaston woman and heiress to a fortune, has been located in Munich, Bavaria, by the State Department at Washington, but the woman refuses to tell anything of the child's whereabouts. Mrs. Prieth is accused by the mother of kidnaping the little girl.

Mrs. Prieth, located in the German city after a long search inaugurated by Congressman James A. Gallivan at the behest of Atty. Thomas D. Lavelle, counsel for the mother of the girl, Mrs. Lucienne Nolan Bond of Farrington street, Wollaston, would not admit that the child was with her, but the investigators were confident that this is the fact.

Mrs. Prieth referred the investigators to William Brosmith, general counsel for the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford, Ct., the very man, who, according to Attorney Lavelle refused to tell the mother the whereabouts of her daughter.

Mrs. Bond will today memorialize the State Department in the effort to have the child, who, she charges, was kidnaped, restored to her. She has not seen her daughter since 1924, when the father, Harry E. Nolan, took her to Switzerland to complete her education.

PADLOCK BARS CITY REFUSE COLLECTORS

Court action may be necessary to determine the right of John L. Maxwell to padlock the gate leading to the areaway in the rear of his property at No. 1 Conant court, Roxbury, where garbage and other debris placed there by occupants of dwellings at Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 Conant court cannot be removed by the sanitary division of the Public Works Department.

Health inspectors were busy today examining deeds of the owners of the property involved to see if some reference had not been made regarding the keeping open of the disputed areaway for the removal of garbage by the city sanitary division. A health official said if it can be shown the areaway had been traversed 20 years without interruption and had been regarded as a public alley action to compel Maxwell to remove the padlock from the gate may be taken.

Elmer Foote, chief investigator for Mayor Nichals, who visited the place and tried to remedy conditions so that the garbage can be removed, today submitted a report of his activities to Mayor Nichols, who will endeavor to remedy conditions.

The Merchant of Venice ~ Shakespeare's Immortal Drama

"For love is blind, and lovers cannot see
The pretty follies that themselves commit."

Just before the day set for Antonio's trial, Jessica, beautiful daughter of Shylock, eloped with her lover, Lorenzo. She took with her many of her father's jealously hoarded ducats and a casket filled with jewels.

"I would my daughter were dead at my feet, and the jewels in her ear!"

Shylock's bitterness against all the world was intensified by his double loss of daughter and ducats. Antonio, who had signed a bond to forfeit a pound of flesh and had failed to meet his obligation, was at Shylock's mercy.

"My deeds upon my head! I crave the law,
The penalty and forfeit of my bond."

The laws of Venice were very strict regarding debt. A bond was a bond, and Shylock knew that even the Duke could not have it cancelled. The Duke urged Shylock to be merciful, but the cruel usurer was obdurate.

"Let his lack of years be no impediment, for I never knew so young a boy with so old a head."

Antonio's case seemed lost indeed. He was prepared to give Shylock the pound of flesh, when suddenly a stir was created in the court room by the arrival of Portia, dressed as "the very learned counsellor, Balthasar."

SAPIRO GUILTY OF ALL THAT FORD'S PAPER CHARGED, SAYS REED

SENATOR OUTLINES DEFENSE FOR DETROIT AUTO KING IN $1,000,000 SUIT OF SAPIRO

piro and his marketing associations in the Dearborn Independent was truth.

Referring to the articles published in the Independent Senator Reed said, "There is, we claim, a privilege that is absolute; that is the right to print the truth, whatever it may be. The law puts no bridle on the mouth of truth.

"And as the case develops, we think evidence will show it is no libel to say of a man 'He is a Jew.'"

Reed referred to Sapiro as having posed in the role of a "Moses" to lead the farmers from the wilderness of bankruptcy.

Declaring excerpts from the alleged libelous articles shown the jury were submitted in such form as to break their context and impart harsh meanings, Senator Reed added: "When the words appear in their proper place it will be for you to judge whether there was any libel."

'PICTURED PANACEA'

Senator Reed began his opening statement immediately after William Henry Gallagher had concluded his statement for the plaintiff.

Evidence would show, Senator Reed said, that Sapiro sent out through the country organizers who pictured a panacea for the ills of the farmers, promising them fine homes, riches, college education for their children and large automobiles.

Business managers chosen at Sapiro's instigation, Senator Reed declared, were given wide powers in controlling the products of the farmers who signed contracts of five to seven years with them.

"The farmers had no right to say when or where their products were to be marketed," he said. "And the managrs were at liberty to give them any advance on their products they saw fit.

"To make these advances, the associations, evidence will show, had to make the loans on the farmers' products and when they settled with them they took out the interest they had paid on he loans.

FIGHTS RACE ISSUE

"This is a case of Aaron Sapiro against Henry Ford," said the senator, "not Aaron Sapiro and the Jewish race against Ford, nor are the co-operative organizations concerned.

"This is not the case of Governor Lowden, Mr. Lasker or Mr. Baruch. This is the case, I repeat, of Mr. Sapiro in which he asks $1,000,000, which he says he lost as a result of these articles.

"I think the evidence will show you Henry Ford never saw these articles, that he has never read them to this time. He heads the publication company of the Dearborn Independent but the business is conducted by the corporation.

RIGHT TO SAY 'JEW'

"The case narrows down to whether Sapiro was damaged by the Dearborn Independent.

"There is, we claim, a privilege that is absolute, that is the right to print the truth, whatever it may be. The law puts no bridle in the mouth of truth.

"So we will try to show you that all which was printed about Mr. Sapiro was the truth.

"And as the case develops we think the evidence will show that it is no libel to say of a man 'he is a Jew.' This is the same kind of case that it would be if Mr. Sapiro were a member of any race."

"Mr. Sapiro cannot capitalize on any sympathy for the Jewish race.

"The excerpts shown you were torn from long articles, the context broken and the words given harsh meanings. So when we get down to trying this case and the words appear in their proper place it will be for you to judge whether there was any libel.

"Moreover, if the plaintiff has given a meaning to the words they are not entitled to, that must be taken into consideration.

"The Independent has a circulation of approximately 600,000, largely among the farmers. It therefore was in a situation where it had a moral duty to print anything regarding agriculture. And if there were anything oppressing or defrauding the farmers, it felt it a duty to tell the public of it.

"These articles about Mr. Sapiro were printed in good faith. Every effort was taken to ascertain the truth of the articles.

SAPIRO CITY BRED

"Mr. Sapiro was born in a city, grew up in the city, knew nothing of a farm, never was in any way connected with practical farming. He never did anything that warranted activities with farm organizations.

"He was admitted to the bar as a lawyer in 1911 and became associated with an industrial accident board. He was made secretary and held that position for two years.

"From 1918 to 1913 he practiced law, and I believe evidence will show he had little practice in that line.

"Sapiro was later named secretary to Harry Weinstock, State director of markets in California. The farmers had discovered their plan of co-operative marketing didn't work and wanted some help.

"Through Mr. Weinstock, Mr. Sapiro got the job of drawing up articles for the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association.

"I believe evidence will show you that about this time Sapiro gained the conception of controlling the farmers and fruit growers for private gain.

"It was about then that he conceived the idea of laying before the farmers a plan for marketing whereby they would be able to control the markets and prices.

"REACHED ACROSS SEA"

"In this way they could increase their profits, could grow rich, educate their children in colleges, ride in automobiles, live in fine houses and be generally prosperous he told them.

"He conceived the idea of organizing local associations into State groups and then national organizations. Not content with national activity, he reached across the sea to control at least the wheat market.

"Then he conceived the idea of one attorney advising all the organizations—Aaron Sapiro. And he was not a farmer nor any of his people."

"We will show you that the salaries in these organizations for executives ran as high as $30,000 to $40,000. These executives, in charge of marketing and distributing, were placed there by Mr. Sapiro and thereby were subservient to him.

"Organizers for Mr. Sapiro went out among the farmers and told them of the glorious benefits of these organizations and shoved contracts before them.

"We will show you these contracts contained clauses that gave the pre-organization committees, already formed, wide powers under which they could, among other things, say when the contracts became effective.

"Under these contracts the boards of directors were given every power. The farmers were bound not to sell products in the open markets, under their contracts, and if they did so they were subject to a fine—about 50 per cent. of the value of the product sold outside.

"And also if the farmer even started to sell in the open market he could be stopped by suit if discovered. These contracts ran five to seven years.

"In the great majority of instances the farmers received not the great profits promised by the Sapiro organizers, but much less than they were offered on the open market.

"One of the reasons for this was that the managers, dominated by Mr. Sapiro, would hold back the products and then sell at lower than they could have received earlier.

"One day they dumped 22,000,000 pounds of tobacco on the market at a 30 per cent. loss. In buying for the farmers' organizations, equipment and warehouses, the Sapiro managers paid millions more than they were worth.

"We will show that in many instances Mr. Sapiro, as legal adviser, was appealed to to recover these losses but failed to respond."

IRON-BOUND PACT

"The terms of the contracts were unbelievably binding. They permitted the managers to mingle the products of one farmer with another and after paying all expenses give the farmer what was left. He had nothing to say as to where his goods were to go or how much they were to draw.

"The contract also stipulated that after the farmer had delivered his product, though he had received no money, absolute title passed to the organization. On it the managers could borrow money as they saw fit.

"The effect of all these stipulations was that the farmer for a long time had to deliver his goods for which he received little or no money at the moment.

"The only provision by which a farmer could be released was a clause that provided for his discontinuing growing a certain crop.

"A farmer was privileged to mortgage his growing crop, but was forced to turn the mortgage into the association which then sold the crop, paid the mortgage and the expenses. The farmer received what was left.

"When the associations were formed it was stipulated they should acquire the warehouses and equipment. The owners of these were brought into the pre-organization committees by Sapiro and received extraordinarily high prices.

WITH FINES SYSTEM

"If any of the tobacco association members sold their product on the market they paid a fine of five cents a pound under the contract.

"In the event of a breach or threat of a breach the association was privileged to obtain an injunction against the grower to prevent further trouble.

"And further, it was stipulated in the contracts that in event of court action to prevent a breach, the grower was to pay all costs growing out of such action. And it was through Sapiro's firm that the court action was taken and the cost collected.

"Mr. Sapiro devoted himself to selling himself to the farmers; pictured himself as the Moses to lead them out of the wilderness of bankruptcy and into the promised land of prosperity.

"He gave these people to believe he was the organizer of co-operatives in California, giving the impression he was the master mind of them when he was only a hired servant. He succeeded in impressing them with what a great power he was in agriculture.

"In all his discourses and the articles he inspired, he indicated he was not working for money but for uplift of the farmer."

Senator Reed declared that after many protestations of disinclination for money Sapiro received from one cotton co-operative $142,000 for organizing it.

"He then turned around," said the senator, "and got $8,000 for representing the association in receivership proceedings."

SUMMARY FOR SAPIRO

Prior to Senator Reed's opening today Attorney William Henry Gallagher concluded his preliminary plea for Sapiro with these three points:

First, an attack by the Independent upon individuality; second, an attack on Sapiro's profession as a lawyer, injuring him with his clients; third, an attack on his work in organizing co-operative marketing organizations and accusing him of being a member of a ring of Internationalists.

"When these series of articles were being printed," said the attorney, "the publication had a circulation of 600,000. Twenty articles were printed and reached 20,000,000.

"In the organizations with which Sapiro is connected 120,000 farmers have been joined together doing a greater part of a billion dollars' worth of business.

"Mr. Sapiro does not have to prove his good character, but merely must show his reputation was damaged by the articles.

"The evidence will show you the prominence this man has attained in his profession, the number of important cases he has tried, even to the Supreme Court. He was only forty years old when these attacks were started without cause or warrant.

"When this evidence is laid before you (the jury) we will expect you to judge the amount of damage sustained by him."

Reed Pictures Ford Accuser Posing as a "Moses"

Detroit, March 17.—Senator Reed, in his opening address for Ford's defense in the $1,000,000 Sapiro suit, said in one of his oratorical flourishes:

"Mr. Sapiro devoted himself to selling himself to the farmers; pictured himself as the Moses to lead them out of the wilderness of bankruptcy and into the promised land of prosperity.

"He gave these people to believe he was the organizer of co-operatives in California, giving the impression he was the master of them when he was only a hired servant. He succeeded in impressing them with what a great power he was in agriculture."

WILLIAMS HITS AUTO GAS TAX AS 'FOOLISH'

Springing a surprise like a bombshell at the legislative hearing on the proposed tax of three cents a gallon on gasoline, State Commissioner of Public Works William F. Williams today vigorously opposed the bill.

After representatives of influential business associations had spoken in favor before the House Ways and Means Committee, Commissioner Williams tersely denounced it in every particular.

He declared he would not have opposed a bill embodying the recommendation of Governor Fuller for a two-cent gasoline tax, but objected to the collection of a third cent, which, according to the bill, would be distributed among cities and towns.

NO PROVISION MADE.

"I doubt if a more unscientific and inefficient way of dispensing funds could be thought of," he said. "There is no provision to force cities and towns to expend this money on highways. They could use it for schools or any other expenses. We already have two methods of distributing State funds for improvement of highways, and if this bill is approved you should at least provide distribution of the gasoline tax money be in lieu of all other funds the State has to contribute for local highways."

Income of $14,000,000 for the State plus $4,000,000 for cities and towns would materialize from the tax, declared Representative Joseph Martin of Marblehead.

AIDS "POORER" AUTOIST.

He declared that the amount distributed to the various cities and towns should result in a reduction of 60 cents in the property tax rate everywhere.

Besides a 3 cent a gallon tax on gasoline, the bill provides for a reduction to $3 of the automobile registration fee. Mr. Martin added:

"The man who uses his car only on Sundays and holidays now pays the State just as much as the man who uses his car every day. This bill provides for paying according to the amount the car is used."

Representative Carroll Meins of Boston declared Massachusetts is one of four States not having a gasoline tax, and he called this form of tax the most equitable automobile tax devised.

Why Don't You Say to Yourself

"Perhaps it wouldn't be such a bad idea to drop in at White's and see what they have this year."

When so many hundreds of Boston men buy their Spring suits, each year, at this annual sale—there may be more to it than you have supposed.

R. H. White Co. does not advertise comparative prices. This sale has been held now for a good many years. The great number of our customers have learned not to judge our values by the price alone. They do not wonder if they're worth more than the sale price. They have come to know they are—even though we make no claims and avoid the pitfalls of exaggerated statements. They know that what they get is very likely to be much better than they would be apt to expect, based on general conditions.

Don't judge by the low price of $39.50 alone. The suits we have had made especially for this sale are of such quality in fabrics and such workmanship that they will be in good countenance in any business or professional office, directors' meeting or luncheon group; and men who (largely from habit) pay vastly more would find it some job on comparing their suits with these to fully justify paying what they do.

WIFE ON STAND IN CONSTABLE RUM TRIAL

A Federal law prohibiting testimony by a wife on behalf of her accused husband was waived by Judge John A. Peters in U. S. District Court today when he permitted Mrs. Marion Lewis of Westport to testify at the trial of her husband and four constables of that town on liquor charges.

In allowing her to testify, Judge Peters instructed counsel for the defendants to avoid reference in his questions to Carlton C. Lewis, her husband, but permitted all testimony to go in that concerned the four town officers.

Charles H. Hill, Philip Sherman, Harry Sherman and Omar Brightman, constables, were indicted on charges of conspiracy to smuggle 400 cases of alcohol ashore at Horseneck Beach in January from the derelict schooner, Dorothy Earle.

Lewis and William R. Wood are co-defendants on the charge of transporting and concealing the cargo.

Mrs. Lewis declared she saw two of the accused constables in uniform at the Ocean House on the night alcohol was stored in a shed at the hotel and helped serve supper to them.

She said Dennis F. Driscoll, Federal officer, who brought the smuggling charges, did not show his customs badge to identify himself until after the arrests.

She corroborated testimony of Hitt that he permitted Driscoll to see the alcohol after obtaining the advice, by telephone, of the clerk of court at Fall River.

DARING GANG HUNTED AS HUB GEM THIEVES

Long experienced jewel thieves committed the robbery in Manchester, N. H., in which a Boston firm lost $8,000 in gems, according to Victor W. Carlton of Boston, the traveling salesman from whom the jewelry was stolen.

Carlton today was assisting the police in searching for further evidence in the case in which a gang of the cleverest gem robbers in the country are believed to be involved.

Betty Compson to Star With Earl Williams

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor.

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—"The quickies" is a prevalent expression in Hollywood and a popular one, too. Outside of Hollywood it is an unknown quantity and might be a disease, a religion or any other of seventeen different things. Hollywood's definition of a quickie is a film that takes from two to three weeks to make and pays well while it lasts.

Widely known stars who play in them sometimes are only employed one week, that time being devoted to taking closeups. The long shots are then played by substitutes.

This is, of course, the exception, for most of these producers prefer to keep a player from reel one to the final chapter. Among those who are taking a vacation in the "quickies" are May Bush and Ward Crane. They are playing in a thrilling drama for Phil Goldstone.

Two other of our well known players who may be located at the Columbia studios are Betty Compson and Earl Williams. Their particular dissipation is "Say It with Diamonds," a title any woman should love and any man fear.

I hope I have made it clear that these two particular quickies are not the sort that use only closeups of the stars and then substitute other people in the long shots. These players will be seen through the entire picture.

Betty Compson

RICARDO CORTEZ has left Famous Players-Lasky. His contract expired today and Ricardo with wanderlust in his heart and the possibility of fulfilling a long-cherished ambition to take a trip abroad has decided not to renew.

As soon as he finishes "Eternal Silence," which he is making for Universal, he and his wife, Alma Rubens, will tour Europe.

Miss Rubens has just signed a contract with John Considine, Jr., to play the leading feminine role in "Two Arabian Knights." My understanding is that she will make this one picture of U. A. and then accompany her husband on a belated honeymoon trip.

A NUMBER OF OUR FILM PEOPLE will take a look at Europe this Summer. Madame Elinor Glyn, who has been in this country for some time without returning to her native England, plans to spend her vacation abroad. She will leave in June.

Pola Negri sails April 20 for a two months' visit to her mother in Versailles. The Harold Lloyds are talking Europe although their plans are always subject to change and indefinite.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS is right in his element these days. He is about to start work on "The Gaucho," which in plain English means "The Cowboy," and is a story of South American life.

"The Gaucho," which goes into production in a month and will be directed by Richard Jones, is to have two leading women, one a wild type of girl and the other a more spiritual character. Doug says the girl who has the wild part in the picture will have almost as good a part as his own.

BILL TO BOOST STATE PAY

Salary increases to every department head and commissioner, and many other employes of the state, roughly estimated at $500,000, are recommended in a bill reported in the Legislature today by the committee on public service.

The increase to the higher officials ranges about $500, while in the lower ranks, the range is from $60 to $180.

The bill is based partly on the Griffenhagen study and report, the salary recommendations of which have been slashed right and left, and on a measure filed by Registrar Frank A. Goodwin for the Commonwealth Service Associates.

More than 800 classifications are established by the bill which would take effect on June 1.

Dies From Beating

Springfield, March 17 (I.N.S.)—Jacob Adler, Dwight street tailor, who was brutally assaulted in his shop on March 8, died today at Mercy Hospital from injuries received. Charles Chambers, 30, negro, who confessed to the assault, will be formally charged with murder by the police.

RECEIVER FOR WHITE'S BANK

Augusta, Me., March 17 (A.P.)—Associate Justice William R. Pattangill of the Supreme judicial court today appointed T. Frank Parker of Belfast, senior examiner in the State banking department, as temporary receiver of the Waldo Trust Company of Belfast.

The doors of this bank and its branches in Castine, Brooks and Unitey were closed two weks ago, due, it was claimed to the failure of Small, Maynard & Company, Boston publishers and the Boston Book Binding Company which filed petitions in bankruptcy.

Loans were made to Norman H. White of Brookline, Mass., one of the officials of the bankrupt concern as well as a director and the largest stockholder of the trust company.

LOS ANGELES SYMPHONY CHIEF'S DEATH IS PROBED

Los Angeles, March 17.—Investigation of the sudden death of Walter Henry Rothwell, late conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, last Saturday, resulted today in discovery that the body had not been cremated as publicly announced, but was being held in a mortuary for lack of a burial permit. Mr. Rothwell formerly conducted the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra. It was reported he had died of a heart attack.

The investigation was launched by Coroner Frank A. Nance. Autopsy Surgeon A. F. Wagner admitted he had made an analysis of the contents of Rothwell's stomach and a report of his findings had been made secretly to Nance.

CHINESE RAID TO BE PROBED

Charging the headquarters liquor squad with beating Chinese and wrecking three establishments in Chinatown, Attorney John P. Feeney, representing the On Leong Tong and Chinese merchants, today requested Chief Justice Wilfred Bolster to assign a special justice to view the premises.

The liquor squad, headed by Special Officer Oliver Garrett, raided the establishments at Nos. 52-54 Beach street and No. 23 Oxford street. According to the Chinese, they hacked their way through and beat men without cause.

Justice Bolster granted the petition and assigned A. K. Cohen as special justice. For the first time in twenty years a judge will enter Chinatown on official business. The last time was in August, 1907, when the tongs were battling and four Chinese were killed. Three were afterwards electrocuted.

SALMS SETTLE SON'S FUTURE

Paris, March 17 (I.N.S.)—Countess Salm, formerly Millicent Rogers, in an interview today, flatly denied knowledge of a reported settlement out of court of her marital differences with her husband, Count Salm.

"I believe the question of the custody of our child has been settled satisfactorily by the attorneys. I wouldn't care to say just now what the arrangements," she said.

'DEAD' DOG'LL HAVE TO BE KILLED ALL OVER AGAIN

Charlie Allen of Park avenue, Revere, is likely to give up his dog killing practice.

As a dog killer Charlie admitted in a brief and breathless stop at Revere headquarters that he is a darn good runner.

Charlie's dog isn't his best friend. He has been a bad actor, what with chasing children and all. The climax came when Pete decided to break his child-chasing record and chased pretty near every kid in Revere, arousing angry mothers.

So Charlie bought a large order or chloroform and enough cyanide to poison all the dogs that ever barked up the wrong tree.

CHIROPRACTIC BILL ARGUED

Medical men and chiropractors clashed today over a bill before the Senate committee on ways and means giving State recognition to the practice of chiropractic.

Because of a letter sent to members of the Legislature urging support of the bill and criticism of the writer for using the name of a great fraternal order in the text of his communication, great interest was attached to today's hearing. No mention of the incident, however, was made.

Drs. S. S. Stone of Boston and John S. Niles of Everett led the fight against the measure, urging one standard for all in the practice of medicine.

DOWN WITH STYLE TRUST! WOMEN ARE GOING TO WAR

New York, March 17.—Sherwood Anderson, novelist, is back from Europe with word that the only way to restore immorality is for fashion to decree long skirts again.

Carrie Chapman Catt writes in the Forum that there's going to be a rebellion against the Paris fashion trust; women shall have comfortable, healthful and becoming costume even though a [illegible] of liberty is bankruptcy for some factories.

CHINESE SEIZE U. S. SHIP DOCKS IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, March 17 (I.N.S.)—General Pi has seized control of the Kiangnan docks in the native city of Shanghai, where a number of American vessels are under reconstruction.

General Pi declared the seizure necessary because of urgently needed repairs to northern warships.

Admiral Williams of the United States naval forces has dispatched a warship to the dock district to protect American interests.

Heavy fighting is going on near Nanking.

The capture of Nanking, ancient capital of China and present capital of Kiangsu, would be a great victory for the Cantonese, as it would undoubtedly mean the eventual fall of Shanghai.

There are five American firms doing business in Nanking and the last census showed over 400 Americans resident there, but it is believed that many of these have already left the city for Shanghai.

HUNDREDS DIE OF WOUNDS IN NICARAGUA

Mexico City, March 17 (A.P.)—Hundreds of Nicaraguan Conservative soldiers are dying on the battlefields of Muy Muy and Tierra Azul for lack of medical attention, say dispatches received by Pedro Zepeda, envoy here for the Liberal Nicaraguan regime.

The Liberals are unable to attend them, as their medical supplies are insufficient for their own needs, the dispatches say. Zepeda charges that the American authorities have forbidden the entry of such supplies for the use of the Liberals.

The Liberal envoy is informed that the casualties on both sides in the Muy Muy battle were heavy. The Liberals launched a bayonet charge after seven hours of firing, routing 1,500 Conservatives under General Reyes, who left 179 dead on the field.

"Countless wounded," the dispatches add, "are crawling along the road to Mina Verde seeking medical attention, and many are dying from exposure and exhaustion."

NEW NASH MODELS IN BIG DEMAND

New Nash enclosed models, with their seven-bearing crankshaft motors, forward-sweeping French-type backs and French-type roofs, have met with an enormous demand in foreign countries as well as in the United States, Nash makers claim.

"This fact is brought out by the big increase in orders received by the company for February export shipment," it is said. "In addition, on March 1, export orders on hand for shipment during the month indicate that all records for this month too, will be broken."

"Although February, 1926, exceeded by 42.5 per cent. the previous marks for that month, February of this year reached even 56 per cent. greater figures. More spectacular than that—February, the shortest calendar month had 9 per cent. more exports than September, 1926, the best previous month in Nash history."

MANY AUTOISTS FAVOR WILLYS-KNIGHT SIXES

"With sales orders pouring in from all sections for immediate delivery of Willys-Knight sixes, and four and six-cylinder Whippets, we have been forced to step ahead with production to meet the unprecedented demand," asserted Herbert Fitch, New England manager for the Willys-Overland company.

"Since the new models were exhibited in New York early in January, there has been a rapid and increasing trend on the part of motor car buyers toward Willys-Overland products.

"As the various shows were staged the public became acquainted with the new lines, and the demand for Willys-Knights and Whippets showed a surprising increase. Retail sales during show weeks disclose an increase of from 10 to 14 per cent. over last year."

SEES WOMEN AS HOPE OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

It's up to Republican women to keep the party straight, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert of New Jersey president of the Women's Republican Club of that state, told members of the Boston club today at the weekly lecture. Talking on "How the Machine Works," she related various experiences she met while making the political grade in New Jersey as vice-chairman of the State Committee.

"Women are not in politics to hold office," she said. "They are in it to buck the machine if it doesn't uphold principles of the party. We want no politics in religion, but we need a little religion in politics."

OLDSMOBILES SHOW INCREASE IN SALES

"Increased sales of Oldsmobiles for the first two months of this year, exceeding by a generous margin the same months of last year are evidence of continued prosperity for 1927," said Harry Dunn, general manager of the Boston Olds Company.

"Factory production of the Olds Motor Works is being increased to provide sufficient cars to meet the consumer demand," he continued. "The larger production has been made possible by additional buildings, machinery and resources that were placed in operation the first of the year."

HEALTH HEADS ORDER 104 CAFES TO "CLEAN UP"

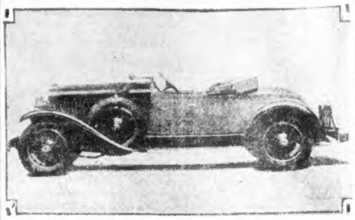
"Hamburg" sandwiches with very little hamburg, dirty cellars, ranges and ice chests, were among the objectionable features found by city health inspectors who announced today the result of a one-month survey in South End and West End "one-arm" and stool lunch rooms. The hamburg steak was found "ballooned" with stale bread. Only one restaurant was ordered closed, although 350 were inspected. However, 104 notices to change conditions found by inspectors were served on lunch room owners.

DEARBON BAILEY MADE ASSISTANT SALES CHIEF

Dearborn Bailey, one of the original five salesmen of the Henshaw Motor Company at its inception in 1914, has been appointed assistant sales manager of that company, it was announced today.

Bailey served the Henshaw Company until 1921, when he went into business for himself. Later he joined the Gardiner and Wills St. Claire agencies, both times as sales manager. Negotiations were finally made with him by the Henshaw company and Bailey returned to the marketing of Dodge cars.

NEW LASALLE ROADSTER



CADILLAC CREATION

The new La Salle roadster embodies a sport motif both in lines and detail of equipment. The cowl lamps are bullet-nose in design, matching the head lamps. The hinged, one-piece windshield folds forward over the cowl accentuating the race body lines.

NEW CADILLAC TYPES SHOWN

"The Cadillac Salon, now at the height of its success, is the best and biggest salon we have ever attempted," said Albion Danforth, president of the Cadillac Company of Boston today.

"There are on display six standard models of the new La Salle car with several Fleetwood bodies. In addition the new La Salle, fifty of the latest model Cadillacs are on exhibition," he continued.

"The La Salle is designed by Cadillac engineers and manufactured by that company completely within its own plant.

"The Cadillac 90-degree, V-type, eight-cylinder principle of engine design has been such a success since its introduction by the Cadillac company thirteen years ago, that it has been adopted for the La Salle models.

"Thermostatic methods of controlling the cooling system, made possible by the introduction of automatic shutters, and the Cadillac system of crankcase ventilation are other features present in the new car. This engine now in use in both Cadillac and La Salle models, may be run 2,000 miles without a change of oil.

NEW FORD MUCH IMPROVED CAR

"You do not know the Ford car of today unless you have made it a point to examine it, drive it and note its improved engine performance, relax in it over rough roads, and experience the increased comfort it affords," declared R. P. Jones, Waltham distributor and former branch manager of the Ford Motor Company.

"Many of the new Ford features are obvious—balloon tires, wire wheels, pyroxylin finish, choice of colors, etc.—but the big satisfaction to the Ford owner is the way 'today's Ford' will fulfill your expectations of what a modern motor car should be.

"You will be amazed by the increased power, smoother engine operation, greater mileage, improved riding qualities, and above all, by the way this car handles and performs in traffic and on the open road."

PACKARD PRICE SHOWS BIG CUT

Officers of the Packard Motor Car Company revealed today that price reductions on its cars recently announced had been in the making since before the war. It is a statement which gives an idea of the forethought and vision displayed in the automobile industry.

Packard became convinced that the spirit of the American people in wanting better things would grow. With this thought officers of the company decided that enough people would want a Packard of the type of the present Packard six to warrant making it and offering it at a price which would permit a large number of people to buy.

The development of the Packard six was held up during the war but taken up again shortly after the war and the first car was produced in 1920.

BIG REDUCTION.

The spirit of wanting better things as quickly as they could be obtained actually has grown in this country. Following the definite policy adopted seven years ago the quality of the car was continually bettered and, at the same time, just as rapidly as possible prices were reduced until now a Packard six, five-passenger sedan sells for less than half what it did in 1920.

"Packard knew that it must guard the quality of its car more jealously than ever as each reduction in price was made," said William Naylor, vice-president of the Packard Company of Boston, discussing the evolution of the present car and the present reduction in price. "Only by rigid maintenance of Packard quality could it keep its most precious asset, the prestige attached to owning a Packard car.

WILL BROADEN FIELD.

"Two years ago one of the most drastic price reductions of a quality car in history of the automobile industry occured when a cut on the Packard Six was made to the equivalent, considering equipment added, of $1,000. The Packard Company knew that if enough people bought the car the radically reduced price could be maintained. Its judgment was proved correct when the most prosperous period in the company's 27 years followed.

"The new price we know will again broaden the Packard field for it makes the Packard Six available to a vastly greater number of people throughout the world and the spirit of wanting better things has grown even greater."

LASKY PRAISES FILM COURSE AT HARVARD

Paying tribute to Harvard University for its progressiveness in instituting a course in motion pictures, Jesse Lasky, one of the country's premier film men, spoke to the students of Harvard Business School today.

"The industry needs college trained men," said Lasky. "Harvard is to be congratulated on its foresight. It goes without saying that other universities will soon see the need for such a course in their curriculums.

"You see the so-called 'fathers' of the industry are still alive. For the most part the men who made motion pictures one of the largest industries in the country are men who were forced to learn in the bitter college of experience. If the industry can count on college trained minds then its future is secured.

"I understand from having discussed the matter with my friend, Mr. Kennedy, and others that the Harvard course will be complete in every detail.

"Judging from the men who are scheduled to lecture there the youths taking the course will have a well-rounded education in the ways of the business. Production, distribution and every other feature of the business are of great importance and I am delighted that such a great university should see the value of instruction in each detail."

Speaking of Boston Lasky said: "I always like to come here, that's what you wanted me to say, isn't it? But I mean it. Boston friends and people always have a warm spot in my heart."

Lasky was accompanied on his visit to Harvard by "Joe" Kennedy, who is known throughout the New England motion picture business as one of the most important members of the industry.

Kennedy and Lasky were guests at a luncheon at Harvard today and a number of well known figures in the industry attended. The course of lectures and instruction in the business of making, distributing and showing pictures has taken hold of popular fancy among the Harvard students.

There was not a single vacant seat when Lasky gave his lecture and a large number of students were unable to get in.

QUINCY MAYOR SCORES STATE HIGHWAY TAXES

Mayor Thomas J. McGrath of Quincy in a lengthy statement today attacked the southern artery tax assessments which became known in Quincy only yesterday. "It is the most atrocious piece of legislation ever enacted by the Massachusetts Legislature," he said.

He also assailed the Quincy legislators who allowed the bill to pass "unnoticed and unopposed."

The bill has resulted in 103 assessments for taxes on property owners along the proposed southern artery which will total $126,000.

OLD FRONTIER IS GRIPPED BY 'GOLD MADNESS'

Tonopah, Nev., March 17 (A.P.).—The new West today was threatened with a seige of gold madness along a 1,000-mile stretch of the old frontier from Phoenix, Ariz., to Northern California, with Weepah, Nev., as its center, as wildcat reports of more rich strikes began to spread.

So abrupt and extravagant were the reports of the new discoveries that seasoned gold miners waited for more evidence before proclaiming their belief in them.

Weepah remained the center of this gilded frontier as one of the best claims changed hands for a sum reported to be $50,000. Frank Horton, head of the Electric Gold Mining Company, on whose location the big strike recently was made, looked prospective buyers in the eye and announced that the mine was not for sale.

The little city took on a deeper shade of gold camp atmosphere when a New York vaudeville manager promised it a revue and a "big orchestra" if the new town hall at Weepah will accommodate the display.

A San Francisco promoter offered to bring boxing matches into camp and Frank Horton, Jr., co-discoverer of the field, received a proposal of marriage from an unnamed Massachusetts girl who felt that he needed the love and sympathy of a woman in the hectic hunt for gold.

New Strike Leads to Big Gold Rush in Arizona

Phoenix, Ariz., March 17 (A.P.).—Prospectors, capitalists and treasure seekers today poured into the Dripping Springs region between Globe and Winkleman, Ariz., where a rich gold strike was reported yesterday.

Recent heavy rains were responsible for the Arizona discovery, miners said. The water washed away the dirt from the dyke of rock in which the gold ore is located. One of the rivulets carried bits of gold into the adobe hut of Joe Lee, veteran sourdough, who panned enough gold from the silt left on his floor to cause him hastily to start a search for the mother lode.

Other prospectors seeing his unusual activity, investigated. The rush followed.

LOST BRIDEGROOM JOLTED BACK TO MEMORY AND WIFE

Pawtucket, March 17 (A. P.)—Memory lost while shopping with his wife in Providence, Friday, was restored to Everett McMekin, 25, by the jolt of a fall from an automobile truck in Suffolk, Va., according to reports here today.

Radio broadcasts and other methods of search had failed to find trace of McMekin, who was to have celebrated his first wedding anniversary yesterday. In the brief message his wife received, McMekin said one moment he was in Providence and the next, so far as his memory went, he was sitting in the road with a bouncing truck rapidly disappearing.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

JAP FRIENDS OF SACCO NABBED

Tokyo, March 17 (A.P.).—A committee of 20 members of the [illegible] League today visited Eugene H. Doorman, second secretary at the American Embassy, with regard to a protest against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, convicted of murder in Massachusetts. Charles MacVeagh, the Ambassador, was not present.

Mr. Doorman informed the committee that the proper course for such protest to come was through the Foreign Office, whereupon the [illegible] Leaguers departed.

FOUND GUILTY IN OPIUM CASE; FREED IN $500

Although George W. Rice of St. Botolph street was found guilty of possessing opium and is wanted in Montreal as an international opium smuggler, according to the police, he was allowed his freedom for a week in bail of only $500 today in Municipal Court.

Rice's wife was also arraigned and was found guilty of being present where opium was found. Her case was placed on file.

After Judge Duff had found Rice guilty of possessing opium in the St. Botolph street rooms he occupied with his wife, Special Officers Albert Madden and Francis Monahan of the narcotic squad told the court four Federal men have been detailed for weeks solely to catch Rice.

Two of the Federal narcotic agents had been stationed in Montreal and two had a room in the St. Botolph street house. Also, the officers said, the Northwestern Mounted Police have been attempting to trail Rice, who, they declare, has been smuggling opium for some time.

Officer Madden said Federal Divisional Narcotic Director Allen had requested him to tell the court Rice was wanted in Montreal, but the $500 bail remained after Rice had promised to be in court next week.

The special officers, in their testimony, declared when they raided the St. Botolph street house they were compelled to wait outside the door of the Rice room, but when the door was opened the odor of smoked opium was heavy.

A large quantity of opium was seized.

Big Caribbean Tour Offer Wins Praise

HOW prominent business men are impressed by the Boston Evening American's offer of a 25-day tour of the Caribbean, on one of the ships of the United Fruit Company, in connection with the "Who's Who in the Movies" competition, which begins next Monday, is indicated by the ringing endorsement of Manager Frank S. Davis of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Whenever there is something to be obtained for New England, or something to be held by New England, Frank S. Davis is to be found upon the firing line and in the front rank there. No man of the present generation has done more to advance the shipping interests of this section, and especially those of the Port of Boston.

Six hundred New England business men, assembled at the New England shipping luncheon of the Maritime Association in the Hotel Statler, showed their appreciation of Mr. Davis' labors for New England by presenting him with a ship's clock.

"Now and for a considerable time to come," said Mr. Davis, "the Latin-American countries offer New England its greatest market. The young people of New England will do well to study and inform themselves on business conditions in those countries. Rich rewards await those who are willing to work hard to become informed about our neighbors to the south.

"The Boston Evening American has been foremost among New England newspapers in recognizing the advantages of a study of conditions in Latin America at first hand, and that newspaper is to be congratulated upon this offer of a rare prize in the form of a tour to some of the countries which will play an increasingly important part in our commerce."

FIRST PICTURE NEXT MONDAY

Someone who reads these lines today will win such a delightful tour of the Golden Caribbean by outstanding success in the Boston Evening American's "Who's Who in the Movies" competition, which begins next Monday.

ONLY THREE CONDITIONS

This competition will be a test of your knowledge of movie plays and movie players, and, to tell the truth, a not very difficult one.

It will continue for only four weeks and consist of but 24 test pictures.

The plan is to print a different test picture daily, each picture representing a scene in some well known play.

The only thing unusual about these photographs will be the fact that the face of one of the players has been removed, has been "painted out."

Participants will be required to (1) name the play from which the picture is taken; (2) name the player whose face is missing and (3) write a letter of not more tan 300 words giving the title of their favorite play and telling in everyday language WHY it is their favorite.

No more than this, and if you excel in identification, in neatness and in the ability to tell in simple language why you prefer one movie play above all others YOURS will be the joy of a never-to-be-forgotten Springtime tour of the Golden Caribbean, with brief visits to some of the best known ports of Central America.

Not only that, but you will have the added privilege of selecting a traveling companion, and inviting him (or her) to go along WITHOUT EXPENSE TO EITHER OF YOU.

No charge for it! Everything free!

There will, of course, be other awards well worth striving for among them the famous Browning-Drake radio set, described at length in these columns yesterday.

Only one thing of importance was missing from what was said yesterday about this Browning & Drake set and that is that it will be "factory built." There are fans in New England—you may be able to place your hands upon one of them without going out of the building—who would be as pleased with a new, factory-built Browning-Drake radio set as with a trip to the Pacific Coast and back!

Picture No. 1 in the Who's Who in the Movies competition will make its appearance on Monday.

At the same time there will be printed a list of Titles of well-known motion picture plays.

In this list can be found the title of the play from which Monday's Test Picture will have been taken.

There will also appear on Monday a list of the Names of Favorite Motion Picture Players.

CLUES WILL HELP YOU.

In THIS list will be the name of the popular player who will be shown in Test Picture No. 1 with his (or her) face painted out.

This course of proceedure will be follow throughout the very brief competition. For "working" five minutes or less daily, for only twenty-four days, you may be able to "pay your way" on one of the most delightful of cruises.

For a quarter of a century, the Great White Fleet of the United Fruit Company, considered the pioneer line to the Caribbean, has been building up and adding to its reputation.

There is not a rebuilt or a reconditioned ship in this fleet. Each and every one was built for service in tropical waters. Every ship is an oil burner, white and clean, with no cinders or smoke to mar the enjoyment of long days spent on fully awninged decks.

PLENTY OF ENTERTAINMENT.

Every room, on every ship, is an outside room. You will find windows open to the sea and sky, with ample room to dress in comfort. Carefully disposed electric lights make reading a pleasure. You will enthuse over the bathrooms. You will find on the menu many dishes peculiar to the countries you expect to visit.

JOBLESS GIVE UP FLORIDA TRIP

Brockton, March 17.—They asked for shoe factory jobs—and they got bathing beauties and offers of lots on which to raise nice, luscious strawberries.

That's why more than 100 jobless shoe workers in Brockton regretfully laid away their light clothes and their plans today, abandoning what had been high hopes of employment and novelty living in the land of Florida sunshine and real estate boosters.

It all started when a Brockton employment agency advertised for 1,000 shoe workers to go to Florida. On interviewing the agency representatives, the shoe workers were not actually promised jobs, it is said, but were given to understand that jobs were there.

SINGER SENDS "MAN WHO MADE HIM" $1,380 CHECK

Nashua, N. H., March 17 (A.P.).—A famous singer's recognition of the man to whom he attributed his decision to take up concert singing as a professional came to light here today. It took the form of a check for $1,380 received by E. G. Hood, formerly music director of the Nashua public schools, from Reginald Werrenrath, baritone. The check represented the proceeds of a concert given by Werrenrath in Boston. He explained that he wished to show his appreciation of Mr. Hood's encouragement and influence in starting him on his career.

"BUD" FISHER REOPENS SUIT WITH COUNTESS

New York, March 17 (I.N.S.).—Harry C. "Bud" Fisher today obtained a Supreme Court order reopening the separation suit brought against him some time ago by his wife, the former Countess De Beaumont.

On February 1 she was granted a decree and $500 a week alimony, her action being undefended, as Fisher was abroad seeking evidence to fight the case. She estimated his income as a comic artist at $250,000 a year.

fully drunk and spoil his reputation for old age?

"The best proof that the Bible is true is that it gives the weaknesses of character as well as the good. If the Bible were faked as a French writer claims, those limitations of character would not be found in it.

"Take the story of David, for instance. It is the story of a boy on the farm who cames to town and becomes a king. Then he desired the wife of another man and what did he do?—sent him into the front line of battle. What could be more human. The writers put it all in. They didn't try to whitewash David because he tried to steal another man's wife.

TWO CHIEF WRITINGS.

"David was a big, successful, human individual.

"A great many people read the Bible all their life and never get anything from it. That is the fault of the Sunday schools which give them 150 words each week to learn. Parts of the Bible are no more useful than a telephone directory.

"If a man wants to get a real idea of the New Testament he should take the book of Luke and read it as if he were reading a book of historical character and follow it up with the Book of Acts. He will be amazed to learn how interesting they are.

"The Lord's Prayer, containing only 67 words, and the 23d Psalm, containing about 100 words, are models of pure English, containing nearly all one-syllable words. They have influenced more lives than probably any other writings."

"There is more good advertising issuing out of New England today than ever before," Mr. Barton declared at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon. "Your great industry, and one of the oldest in the world, the textile industry, is beginning in some instances to trade-mark its products, one of the things which we advertising men have been assured for a generation 'could not be done.' Great as the past of New England has been, it is entering upon a new era of prosperity and national importance that is going to be even greater."

HOW WEST DOES IT.

He urged that New England itself, not only its products, be advertised.

At this point Barton was presented with a small-sized deluge of typical Boston products, including a Gillette razor, a jar of wild raspberry jam, baked beans and brown bread, a box of Schrafft's chocolates, a bar of chocolate the Walter Baker Company has been making here for 100 years, and a pair of Boston garters, with an expression of hope that they would match his socks.

Mr. Barton told of being in Los Angeles with his wife last Summer. Shortly after his arrival a hotel bell boy delivered a huge basket of flowers, products of California, with the compliments of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

"I said to my wife with a laugh, 'How long do you think we should have been in the Copley Plaza or the Touraine before the Boston Chamber of Commerce would send us a pair of shoes or even a button hook!'

SEE HISTORIC U. S. FIRST.

"Millions of dollars spent in Europe every year might much more usefully be spent in New England. Surely it is not narrow minded to suggest that no one ought to see the battlefield of Waterloo who has not first seen 'the rude bridge that arched the flood'; that nobody should visit Oxford and Cambridge who has not first known the beauties of Harvard and Amherst and Yale; that no one should putter about the palaces of George III who has not first seen the homes of Adams, Hancock and Paul Revere.

"Nor will you count me presumptuous if I say that if the business men of California and the railroads which serve it believe enough in California to tell the world, the business men of New England and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad have an even more thrilling story to tell and ought to be telling it."

EX-HEAD OF HUB BANK SUES FOR $100,000

Damages of $100,000 from the Boston Penny Savings Bank are sought in a suit filed today by John Reynolds of Brookline, for twenty-three years president of the bank and a trustee.

The ex-president alleged in his suit that he was induced to resign his office on representation that he would be appointed to an honorary permanent position at an adequate salary, as authorized by the Bank Commissioner, only to discover later that there was no such authorization.

His resignation, he said, came through a secret meeting held by the board of trustees early in 1924, at which a communication from the Bank Commissioner, charging irregularities in making loans, was considered.

Ex-President Reynolds said he had no notice of the meeting.

N. H. REFUSES TO PUNISH BUYERS UNDER DRY LAW

Concord, N. H., March 17 (A.P.).—The State Senate today killed a bill designed to strengthen the State prohibition law. The bill favored by the attorney-general, county solicitors and chiefs of police as well as several temperance organizations, would have inserted the words "purchasing and accepting liquor" in the enumeration of offenses in the present law.

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

The very first aplication will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once, but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered the way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

IN STREET ATTIRE Miss Elizabeth Hubbard presented an extremely smart appearance at the fashion show.

Miss Rachael Smith was a picture in bridal robes of white satin trimmed with fine laces. Her costume was one of the distinct hits at Repertory Hall.

Big Throng Is Seemingly Assured for Next Senior Supper Dance

ALTHOUGH THE SENIOR Supper Dance series is on the wane, enthusiasm for these smart and exclusive parties diminishes not as the season ends. Rather does it wax furiously, and, judging from the large and important parties arranged for next Friday, practically "everyone" will be there. The William T. S. Thorndikes, Mrs. Charles P. Greenough, 2d, the Paul M. Hamlens, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gilman Nichols (Mrs. Nichols is a bride of last Autumn), the George Putnams, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoar Warren and the Shaw Spragues are entertaining.

TO DIGRESS A MOMENT from the Supper Dance theme—there's all sorts of regrets in the Charles P. Greenough circle that these popular people are to pull up stakes and migrate to the West Coast for a long stay, of some years perhaps. Mrs Greenough's mother, Mrs Hamilton Perkins, lives in Southern California and the Greenough boys are at school in that salubrious and much touted [illegible] So for the next three years, [illegible] the Greenough, pater and mater will be West Coast residents, with only occasional trips East.

THEY ARE DISPOSING OF their Brookline home and are having built for them in Miramar, Santa Barbara, a charming place of the semi-tropical villa sort And present plans will take them away some time in the early Autumn. Santa Barbara is, by the way, already somewhat a Bostonese colony, as ever so many smart people hailing from the vicinity of Beacon Hill are settled there.

PRETTY MRS. PAUL G. COURTNEY has a Senior Supper Dance party Also Mr and Mrs. A. Lithgow Devens, the George P. Dennys, Mrs. A. Lynde Cochrane, Samuel E. Peabody, Mr and Mrs. Fairfield Goodale In fact, many of the regulars of the set that never for a moment loses its enthusiasm for dancing will be at the Copley-Plaza The Henry Lymans, Robert T. P. Storers, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cabot, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Metcalf Mr. and Mrs. Charles Belknap, the Samuel Mixters, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Febiger are on the list, so the chances are the 1926-7 affairs will end in merry fashion.

AS SO MANY OF THE PORtraits by Mrs. Leonebel Jacobs at the Doll and Richards Gallery are of Chinese Princes and Princesses it's quite in keeping that the room should be hung with rare and rich Chinese brocades and that rugs, deep and velvety and done in mellow golden Chinese yellows, should be strewn about Some of the hangings Mrs. Jacobs got in the Forbidden City, and others are gifts from some of her imperial subjects. For the tea-table yesterday, at the private view, a Chinese vase filled with forsythia topped a cover embroidered in the sympolic "hundred sons" design. It was a pretty bit of sunshiny yellow, essentially Springtimey.

BOTH AFFAIRS, YESTERday's tea and private view and today's repetition of the two, serve to benefit financially the South End Music School Settlement. Mrs. F. Roland Clough is one of the principals staging the affair. Her portrait, done in Mrs Jacobs' unstudied way, looks benignly down on the scene of tea and chatter. Mrs. Jasper Whitney, Miss Grace Nichols and others interested in the Settlement are helping to make the two private views a success.

THE LATE SEASON, SOMEwhat belated, debutante party Mr. and Mrs. H. Gordon Glenn are giving for their pretty daughter, Miss Helen Glenn, is set for April 27, and will be preceded, in the usual manner of things, by an ushers' dinner. The guest list is confined to about two hundred young people, and the party serves as the coming-out of this attractive girl, whose family hails from below the Mason and Dixon l[illegible]

Active work on the reconditioning of the old frigate "Constitution" is underway at the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Workmen are busy with specially hewed lumber from South America replacing the present beams.

With the advent of an early Spring many home owners are actively engaged in reconditioning their property. Several are taking advantage of the fact that many Real Estate concerns will advance the necessary money to carry on this improvement.

After giving our attention to this program for the half-hour we felt entitled to wander outside Boston and hear what was what. Starting down at the bottom we slowly climbed until we struck a loud, sweet steady signal emanating from Florida. Baltimore was not radiating and there were few others in the immediate vicinity.

In his tantalizing way the announcer slowly drawled out the information that he was WIOD. Like Mr. Meyers a few minutes previously he was speaking extemporaneously. We think WIOD draws out its announcements because it knows its signals draw! and do not fade easily.

Then we turned up and up without hearing anything worth listening to. Coming to 285 meters we listened and then started adjusting. We were just a moment late. For we heard the location given as Miami Beach, Florida. Twice in one night and on a poor night is fair work! WQAM is listed as the station we heard.

* * *

KDKA, WJZ, WEAF and WGY, all big, powerful, noisy stations, and last night they were as so many infants among other infants. So it was not a good night for distant reception while we listened.

* * *

Coming home again, we tuned in [illegible] and were disappointed to discover that 30 minutes was all they had for us. Perhaps next time we shall only buy a small tube of paste.

LaBarba Says Vacca Will Hear Birdies

By Jack Conway

"JOHNNY VACCA will require all of the dynamite he can [illegible] into his padded mitts when he bumps into Fidel LaBarba at the Arena on next Monday night," chirped Mr. Boston as he parked his No. 10's on our desk today.

"Just passed through the Fenway," resumed the veteran, "and I got a peek at LaBarba as he was doing his road work. I found the flyweight boss grinding away with George Blake at his side. You know Blake is the bird who developed Fidel into a world's champion.

Mr Boston

"I blew my traffic whistle and held LaBarba up in his workout.

"'Say, kid,' I opened, 'what's going to happen in your shindig with Johnny Vacca on Monday night?'

"I have known LaBarba since back in [illegible] days when he won amateur titles at the Arena and so am prepared to swear on the [illegible] Bible that he is not the boastful sort. But when I mentioned Vacca's name, LaBarba opened up like Wide and Hahn will when they start shooting for the world's indoor mile record in New York tonight.

"'I shall beat Vacca this time just as sure as today is Thursday,' declared LaBarba as his eyes flashed fire. 'You can also say for me that I shall try for a knockout. I am rated as more of a boxer than a puncher, [illegible] objective on Monday evening will be a victory by the kayo route.

"'I SHALL be in better condition when I go to bat Monday night than I was when I last tackled Vacca. You know I came to Boston [illegible] week before that show. I'll admit that I underestimated Vacca [illegible] and so when I was asked to attend this and that social affair [illegible] not turn down the invitations.

"'I don't deny that Vacca made my teeth rattle when he cracked me [illegible] in the second round. He had me on the floor three times [illegible] session and again in the fourth round.

"'But I came back fighting. You remember I was the bird who was [illegible] the pace during the closing rounds. I have always believed that [illegible] test of a fighter is as to how he acts after getting up from the canvas.

"'BOYS, how I trained for my return meeting with Vacca. I have been living in an apartment on Bay State road with George [illegible] and Mrs. Blake. I have given all my attention to [illegible] ready for this fight with Vacca. I must erase the black mark [illegible] on my record. Think of a comparatively unknown boxer [illegible] a world's champion down four times. That kind of gets under [illegible]. Well, I guess I'll feel better after the bout Monday night.'

"[illegible] tipped me to get down a little bet on LaBarba. He stated [illegible] is all burned up over the smacking Vacca gave him in their [illegible] and that he will be hitting on all cylinders when he breezes [illegible] the post on Monday night.

"I would suggest that if LaBarba is anxious to keep his chin from [illegible] that he ask permission from the Street Commissioners [illegible] 'parking' sign on the point of his chin. But even this [illegible] as Vacca is one of those cocky little fellows who [illegible]. Anyhow, he hasn't got any compunctions about [illegible] the reputation of a world's champion."

St. Louis, March 17 (A.P.)—Branch Rickey, vice-president of the Cardinals, sees little possibility of any agreement with Flint Rhem [illegible] pitcher who won twenty games for the club last season.

Rickey said the club "could not in justice" give the pitcher what he wants. President Sam Breadon at Avon Park, Fla., said Rhem wants $15,000, which is an increase of $10,000 over the player's reported salary last season.

Fight Card Has No Main Bout

Chicago, March 17 (A. P.)—A fight card without a main bout is the ring novelty Promoter Jim Mullen has prepared for Chicago's fistic fans tonight.

Instead of matching two well known boxers and building his card around that match, Mullen arranged four 10-round bouts at weights ranging from 126 to 160 pounds.

The Dave Shade-Tillie Kid Herman match and the junior welterweight scrap between Spug Meyers and Billy White have attracted most interest.

Arlmont C. C. Ready For Red-Letter Season

By STED CHANDLER

Improvements, additions and alterations involving the expenditure of $16,500 since last year have brought the comparatively new Arlmont Country Club to the threshold of a red-letter season.

[illegible] special tournament and that the entertainment committee will [illegible] a dance in [illegible] evening [illegible]

CLUBHOUSE TO BE ENLARGED.

And there is good reason for this. The first of the month work will be gun upon the clubhouse, which is to be greatly enlarged. A wing will be built on the north side, which will provide larger space in the hall, larger ladies locker space and an addition to the men's locker section and a bigger kitchen, giving more adequate facilities for taking care of the guests. A new [illegible] system and similar improvements have been installed.

In the rear two or three new rooms are to be built as living quarters for the help.

The course itself is already in surprisingly good condition.

"It was slow," [illegible] stated positively, "an improvement of 100 per cent over last year.

"Arlmont was the first local course to get its squad of workers busy preparing for the coming season. There are eight men at work now and by the nineteenth everything will be shipshape. The first fairway is being widened about [illegible] feet and the first green changed. This is now on an angle of about 45 degrees, due to the front of it setting, but this will be lifted so as to make it much fairer for putting and altogether more playable."

COURSE IN FINE SHAPE.

The Spring catch of grass at Arlmont has taken well in the new top-dressed fairways and the course already appears in Summer condition.

The tournament schedule for 1927 has not yet been completed, but will conform to last year's system. The regular week-end tourneys, which were highly successful in 1926 will be resumed, and there will be the usual three or four medal, Spring Cup, Presidents' Cup and club championship matches. Possibly, also, there will be added exhibition matches thrown in during the season.

DAILY SHORT STORY

HER HUSBAND'S FLAPPER

By Eric Heath

ADELAIDE BROCTON [illegible] if she let her [illegible] hysterics she wouldn't be able to do a thing. Yet as she sat darning Ernest's socks by the [illegible] of the lamp on the dining room table she felt herself on the verge of a wild spasm of laughter and tears. It was [illegible] and at the same time it might so easily turn out to be tragic.

For a week now she had known that Ernest, to whom she had been a devoted and thoughtful wife for over twenty years, was having an affair (as the modern phrases go) with a girl young enough to be their daughter. A cousin of hers who had a nose for scandal and was himself a man about town had stumbled on the secret and had considered it his duty to tell her. At first she had tried to take the news lightly, sure that it could be no more than a mild and passing flirtation.

But it had assumed a serious aspect when she learned from her cousin that Ernest had gone so far as to use another name for the benefit of the girl—the high sounding name of Herbert K. Wallingford—and had actually taken a small apartment in a modest hotel on the outskirts of the city. She could imagine when he frequently made the excuse that he had to stay downtown "on account of business" that he was [illegible] the girl in the apartment.

Adelaide felt helpless in the face of the situation. She had no experience to guide her, for never before had she known Ernest to deviate from the narrow although pleasant and comfortable path of their married life. What could she do? Confront him with the fact that she knew his guilt and denounce him? Dissolve into tears and try to win him back with gentleness? Plead with him for the sake of their children who would suffer should the scandal leak out? Their oldest son had just entered college that Fall. Their second son was the president of the Junior Class in High School, and their baby, their little daughter, was sixteen, just budding into womanhood.

She smiled now as she thought how easily she had offered advice to women friends in the same predicament. Yes, it was quite a different thing to tell other women what to do. One could be wise and calm and patient in helping to solve the domestic tangles of others, but when it was a question of one's own happiness, envy, jealousy, distrust and fear entered into the matter.

But Adelaide Brocton clung firmly to the belief that only sane thinking and sane acting could keep her home life from being wrecked, and her children from disaster. She knew only too well how stubborn Ernest was. [illegible]

[illegible] She remembered the wife of her cousin [illegible] gave an informal tea to which [illegible] and the young lady who was [illegible] was Imogen [illegible] and who was an acquaintance of theirs.

[illegible] Imogen and Adelaide [illegible] Adelaide was [illegible] did not seem to be [illegible] of course. On the [illegible] though she had flapper [illegible] flapper clothes and was [illegible] she appeared to be of a [illegible] and [illegible].

Adelaide seized every opportunity to [illegible]. Furthermore, she took [illegible] to be gracious and interesting and sympathetic that Imogen from the very first was won over by her charm. Adelaide sensed that she craved someone to confide in, a woman of course and preferably an older woman.

In the weeks that followed, Adelaide and Imogen frequently met [illegible] Adelaide talked of [illegible] It was [illegible] her [illegible] the girl [illegible] had no [illegible].

[illegible] were taking tea [illegible] in a [illegible] They [illegible] inspired [illegible]. In the [illegible] conversation about [illegible] asked suddenly:

"Mrs. Brocton, you've been so sweet to me—would you mind—would you mind if I asked you about something?"

"Of course not," Adelaide replied.

"You see—" Imogen went on, faltering. "I was engaged to marry a man. Stephen Halliday is his name and we—we quarreled. I suppose we were both too proud to make up. Anyway, we haven't seen each other for over a year. I was awfully lonely till I got acquainted with an older man, a Mr. Wallingford. He's my best friend and he—well he just told me a few days ago that he—he loves me. I'm fond of him, he's been a real friend to me, but, you see, he's—married."

Adelaide felt a clutch at her heart, [illegible] wife is [illegible] and [illegible]

[illegible] Adelaide [illegible] self possession [illegible]

"He [illegible] you know [illegible] been [illegible] ever [illegible] circumstances, I [illegible]

Adelaide [illegible] but at last she [illegible]

"Under those circumstances perhaps you wouldn't [illegible]

"He has an [illegible] apartment," Imogen continued, "and he's asked me to meet him there tonight. We're going to talk over the whole situation and try to come to some decision. It's so hard for us to meet [illegible]. He's afraid his [illegible] wife will find out and raise a row."

After a pause, Adelaide asked keeping all emotion out of her voice:

"And—are you going?"

"I don't think it would be just [illegible] nothing for me to go alone. I [illegible] a [illegible] because I [illegible] would [illegible] to ask if you—you would [illegible] I want you to [illegible] because you are [illegible] I am so fond of you."

[illegible] that evening [illegible] introduced them.

[illegible] I want you to [illegible] the [illegible] lady in the world, [illegible]

[illegible] instant, Ernest Brocton and Adelaide Brocton stood gazing at each other. Imogen [illegible] from one to the other [illegible]

"[illegible] the matter?" she asked. "[illegible] don't mind [illegible] Imogen, my dearest friend, [illegible]"

[illegible] in a flash, Imogen realized [illegible]

"You—you are his wife!" she cried. [illegible] Adelaide. Adelaide [illegible] Imogen broke into sobs.

"[illegible] he deceived me, he deceived me," she [illegible]

Adelaide gathered the weeping girl [illegible] her motherly bosom.

"[illegible] Stephen Halliday and [illegible] quarrel," she whispered [illegible]. Over Imogen's [illegible] she looked at Ernest and it was more to him than to the girl that she added: "Life is impossible, without—forgiveness."

Why you should use an unscented toilet soap

Of course you don't want the artificial scent of a soap to linger on your skin and confuse the subtle odor of the perfume you choose as your own. But for the woman who values a fine complexion there are two other reasons why an unscented soap is the only safe soap. Perfume may be decidedly irritating to the skin. Also, in too many cases it is used in toilet soap to "cover up" the ingredients, where these are not as pure as they should be.

What to do then? Use the finest of all pure soaps, the finest of all Castiles—Doña [illegible] Unscented (like all true Castiles), infinitely [illegible] and bland, Doña is 100% pure vegetable oil [illegible] tent. (The fragrance that women love in Doña [illegible] given it by its own pure ingredients and rinses off instantly with the lather.)

And Doña has other virtues that no other Castile has. It will give you an instant generous lather, even in cold water—a marvel for Castile. It rinses instantly too. It is beautifully molded to fit your hand, comes to you fresh in a charming wrapper, is "hard-milled"—that's to make it last. Doña is a very expensive soap to make, but because so many millions of women use it, it is not expensive to buy. It costs ten cents, wherever you buy your toilet soap.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

THIS is St. Patrick's Day, celebrated in honor of the man who drove the snakes out of Ireland. Volstead is the fellow who tried to chase them out of this country.

BUT, thanks to the bootleggers, we can still see all we want for eight dollars a quart.

ONE drink of the stuff they sell nowadays and pretzels look like animal crackers.

IT'S getting so that a man doesn't dare touch a highball unless he's got a trainer with him.

HE has to carry a whip.

ONE fellow bought a pint of Scotch in a night club the other evening. Ten minutes later he thought he was in the zoological gardens.

HE put the cork back in the bottle and wanted to sell out to Ringling Brothers.

HE shot at two of the animals, but they proved to be college boys in raccoon coats.

ANOTHER man thought he was being cheated because all he saw was lizards and eels. At eight dollars a quart he expected dragons.

DELIRIUM tremens is an awful thing, but it's a dandy way to see a lot in one evening.

ONE guy says he's seen animals that Barnum & Bailey never heard of.

HE organized his own circuses with a cork screw.

BUT then prohibition came along and folded up his tents.

ST. PATRICK drove the snakes out of Ireland with sticks. St. Wheeler is trying to do it with padlocks.

JUDGING from the stuff they're selling lately, night clubs will soon become menageries.

AND every waiter will be a ringmaster.

YEARS ago whiskey used to be the antidote for snakebite, but times have changed. Snake bite is now the antidote for whiskey.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE---BY HELEN ROWLAND

I THANK the Lord for LITTLE things!
For starry nights and sunny Springs—
For buttered waffles, cream on prunes,
And kisses under summer moons!
For pleasant books—and deviled crabs,
And, sometimes, just for taxicabs!

For men who do not bore me much,
And friends who never make a "touch";
For violets, all wet and dewy;
For caviar—and good chop-suey!
For Springtime loves—and things like that—
And, oh, for a becoming hat!

I thank he Lord, as I have said,
That all the poets are not dead;
That corsets are no longer worn,
And that my hair is neatly shorn;
That skirts no longer sweep the dust—
That I've a friend whom I can trust!

I thank the Lord for WORK to do!
And thank Him more, when I get THROUGH—
For movies, full of sheiks and vamps,
And pink silk shades on parlor lamps—
For skies and hills and daffodils,
And hopes and thrills—and quinine pills!

All day, the heart within me sings,
"I thank the Lord for LITTLE things!"

WHEN it comes to finding a husband every young girl longs for a turtle dove; but a divorcee prefers a plain, everyday "homing pigeon."

A man thinks that if he kisses his wife good-bye every morning, and winds his watch every night, that should keep them "going" right along merrily and automatically for the rest of the twenty-four hours.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients. It is known as Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur Compound and can be obtained at all drug stores for only 75 cents a bottle.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

Peep Into Millionaire Club; Members Have Own Griefs

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, March 17.—Would you like a glimpse into the most aristocratic of clubs in New York?

It did me good. It may do you some good.

There is nothing but quiet dignity about the dining-room, library and other rooms. The food is served with no more ceremony or elegance than at any good hotel. It is good food well-cooked—but again not better than obtainable at first-class hotels.

B. C. Forbes

It wasn't the place or anything about it which made me think. It was the members patronizing it.

* * *

DOUBTLESS thousands of young men in New York aspire to become members one day of this exclusive club. One member told me he had been on the waiting list for seven years and had just been admitted.

Now you would imagine that here, if anywhere, you would find men enjoying enviable cases, men unusually blessed, men knowing a maximum of happiness.

AS I LOOKED them over, what struck me very forcibly was the sorrow, the trouble, the unhappiness which has befallen most of them.

* * *

NEAR MY elbow sat a banker, some of whose underwritings turned out unhappily, and he himself once told me that he would gladly give his right arm if he could undo troubles which had overtaken those whom he had induced to become security holders.

Near him, in grave conversation, was a nationally-known industrial leader whose chief enterprise has fallen short of expectations, and its relatively poor showing is eating into his heart.

"He's a very little chip of a very big block," I was told when I asked who one young man was. His father made his mark, but this son is never likely to.

ON ONE sofa was a $50,000-a-year man who has been out of [illegible] for several months. If you ever had to [illegible] him you will [illegible] than imagine that he is [illegible] over with happiness.

[illegible] on a leather chair close [illegible] financier holding one of [illegible] most important positions in New York. He had to appear as a witness in a famous financial suit not long ago, and the opposing lawyers made him confess so much ignorance that I am sure he has felt humiliated ever since.

ONE MULTI-MILLIONAIRE is happy enough, in a sense. But he would give most of his millions to have had one son. He is now approaching old age, childless, with nobody particularly near or dear to him to whom he can leave his fortune.

Another member, who has had a spotless career, grieves over the fact that he was induced to become a director in a large concern whose affairs later occupied unpleasant prominence in the newspapers. This directorship has proved a bitter experience to him.

As I looked around the thought was burned into my mind that "each heart knoweth only its own bitterness." Into the life of almost every rich man there present has come very bitter grief.

I recalled, too, that on a former occasion I saw dining here two multi-millionaires, one of whom was afraid to walk up a stair because of a weak heart—he is now dead; the other has since been convicted of dishonest dealings with the Government.

I CAME away reflecting that we all, rich and poor alike, have troubles of our own. Being very rich has certain distinct advantages, unquestionably. But whenever anything untoward befalls a very rich man, the whole world is told about it. The poor at least escape that penalty.

After all, I am inclined to think that the Good Lord dispenses joy and sorrow fairly even-handedly among the rich and poor. In other words, the law of compensation does operate. "You can't have everything," applies to the multi-millionaire as well as to the man in ordinary circumstances.

* * *

SO WHY MAKE ourselves unhappy by bitterly envying those whose bank acounts are full to the running-over? Envy pays no dividends, in cash or in happiness.

U.S. SURPLUS TO EXCEED HALF BILLION

Washington, March 17 (A.P.)—Secretary Mellon believes the treasury surplus will pass the half-billion dollar mark this fiscal year. The March collection of income taxes is expected to reach $625,000,000.

While the secretary still holds the surplus does not necessarily mean the revenue act of 1926 will produce sufficient revenue in the next year to warrant tax reduction, he said it would indicate successful operation of the act. The more optimistic tax reduction advocates are already figuring on how much Congress may lop off the taxpayers' bills, taking the indicated surplus as a guide.

The surplus accumulating this fiscal year, which will be increased by the failure of Congress to pass the second deficiency bill, will be applied to the public debt.

The offer of the treasury to convert the second Liberty Loan 4¼ per cent. bonds into five-year 3½ per cent. treasury certificates, is expected by Secretary Mellon to bring in at least one-half of the outstanding bonds of that issue, or a sum in excess of one and one-half billion.

Bonds aggregating $1,146,000,000 had been turned in at the close of business yesterday. The greatest conversion was in the New York Federal Reserve district where $684,000,000 in bonds was exchanged for the certificates.

Public Drops Half a Billion in 30 Months in Stock Swindles

New York, March 17 (A.P.)—The public has been defrauded of $500,000,000 in the last 30 months through sale of fake securities, it is estimated by Assistant Attorney-General Keyes W[illegible], head of the State's Fraud Prevention Bureau.

Investors are defrauded of $100,000,000 annually, he declared, through publicity in a dozen so-called financial newspapers, some of which already have been forced to suspend.

One of these papers, he said, has even printed articles written by Attorney-General Albert Ottinger in an effort to make the public believe it carried his approval.

HALF-BILLION POWER PROJECTS HELD BACK

Federal Power Commission is suspending for the present consideration of applications for power projects on Clinch river, Power river and portions of Tennessee river, because of possible relations of these projects, and particularly the Cove Creek project, to the utilization or disposition of Muscle Shoals.

Three applications for licenses at Cove Creek by the Tennessee Electric Development Co., Union Carbide & Carbon Co. and Tennessee Hydro Electric Co., which would aggregate $500,000,000 in construction, are pending.

ELECTRIC Power & Light Corporation reports for 1926 net income of $6,275,680 after depreciation, interest, etc., against $3,921,020 in 1925.

IF ST. PATRICK COULD RETURN

By
S. E. KISER

NO constables are shooting down
The Connors or O'Sheas;
The word that comes from
Dublin town
Is hopeful nowadays:
The lasses and the lads may sing
"The Wearin' of the Green,"
And not a henchman of the king
Pops out upon the scene.
New splendor shines on every hill
Since Ireland is free,
And gorgeously the Shannon still
Is flowing to the sea.

THE lads of Sligo and Athlone
And Carlow and Clonmel,
With souls that are, at least,
their own,
May see that all is well;
The days are fair in Tullamore,
Kilkenny and Kenmare;
No sudden knock at any door
Arouses terror there;
The men of Cork and Cavan hail
Their neighbors joyously,
And sweet winds blow through every vale
Since Ireland is free.

THE lasses well may turn to smile
When any lad goes by,
For joy is in the fair green
isle,
And hope is mounting high.
The tenant turns no more to gaze
On scenes he must forsake,
Nor sees his humble cot ablaze;
Proud hearts have ceased to break
Since Erin's sons are learning how
To be serene and free;
What joy would fill St. Patrick now,
If he were there to see!

Underpaid Judges

They Are Both a Disgrace and a Menace; Legislature Should Promptly Pass the Bill Providing for Salary Increases

The bill increasing the salaries of the justices of the Supreme, Superior and Land Courts, which the legislative Committee on Public Service has voted to report, should be passed by the Legislature PROMPTLY.

Judges in all courts are shamefully underpaid, from the Supreme Court of the United States down.

That condition is a disgrace to the richest nation in the world, and a danger.

Fortunately, many able jurists, inspired by duty, are willing to undertake judicial work for an inadequate reward.

But a people well able to pay should not depend for service on the generosity of judges and their willingness to sacrifice their own interests to public welfare.

Let it be remembered, also, that the State and the Nation is unavoidably deprived of the services of some of the ablest men because duty to their families makes it absolutely impossible for them to accept or retain judgeships.

Mr. Justice Hughes, one of the ablest men on the United States Supreme Bench, was obliged to resign from the bench and resume law practice because he could no longer neglect the interest of his family.

It is no exaggeration to say that every year he spent on the Supreme Bench cost him at least a quarter of a million dollars. His case is exceptional, but not unique.

The richest country in the world should not depend on the generosity of its employes for good service, nor should it run the risk of obtaining second-class judges because it is not willing to pay for first-class men.

Judges, as a rule, depend on their salaries for their living. The judge's work is hard, and "the laborer is worthy of his hire."

The Legislature should pass this bill to increase judges' salaries, and the people at large, whose safety depends on justice in their courts, should see to it that all their judges are properly paid.

England, poor as compared with this country, pays her judges far better than we do. Justice, most precious of all possessions in a self-governing people, should be honored, and its administrators well paid.

Modified Marriage Service

Modern Youth Efficient

Episcopalian bishops in England have rewritten the marriage service, improving it greatly, they say. Some things are taken out, some put in. Whatever the bishops have done to the marriage service won't compare with some things that modern youth has done to marriage.

CITIES GROW LIKE SNOWBALLS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ONCE more we have to revise our list as to the greatest cities of the United States.

New York is still ahead, but the subsequent list has been somewhat changed.

The press gives the eight largest cities of the United States as stated below with their gain in per cent. of population. They are as follows:

	1927 Population.	Gain.
New York	6,322,554	12.5
Chicago	3,151,989	16.7
Philadelphia	2,051,751	12.5
Detroit	1,430,896	44.0
Los Angeles	1,268,680	120.0
Cleveland	996,051	25.0
Boston	860,269	15.0
St. Louis	834,729	8.0

It will be seen from this that the star of empire is still taking its course westward. The most remarkable rise given in population has been that of Los Angeles. Detroit has also come to the front.

Some of us can remember when there was a lively competition between St. Louis and Chicago, but Chicago has now far outstripped its Southern rival in growth.

The growth of large cities seems to be like a snowball, the larger they get the faster they grow.

It is not to be wondered at that Los Angeles has so increased in population as the weather there is favorable to work all the year round and the city seems to be up to the present time comparatively free from earthquakes.

Southern California is growing very rapidly, not only due to its equable climate, but to the fact that it is favorable to all kinds of work.

The handicap of being far removed from the main portion of the United States is offset by the favorable conditions of the weather.

It will be noted from the above list that Los Angeles has passed Boston, Cleveland and St. Louis in the last six years. At this rate of growth it will pass Detroit in the next five years and be the fourth city in the nation.

Los Angeles is not made up of European immigrants, but mostly of mid-West stock, and is probably the most typical American city in the Union. Its growth is sturdy and promising.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

ALL over Earth, some men complain, "We cannot get a start; each day some cherished dream must wane and some bright hopes depart. We are not as the others are whose lives are brave and gay; for us no kindly fate or star has marked our easy way." And so, poor laggards in life's race, they play a craven part; no risks they run, no chance embrace, nor ever make a start. For all life's glow and grace they yearn, its pleasures and its praise, yet, through the years, they never learn they make their own dull days. All over Earth we hear the cry, "We cannot get a start," as he who mourns while years slip by plays out his coward's part.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

SURELY HERE.

ANYONE who has doubts about Spring being here should meander to BOSTON COMMON any morning just now, just as the sun is poking its head up over the horizon and see the number of people, most of them past the bloom of youth, taking their morning constitutional. For the past week or ten days these early risers have been strolling along the COMMON'S pathways, stopping now and then to toss some crumbs to the birds or some peanuts to the squirrels. Several of them appear to come from the direction of BEACON HILL.

TIP FOR LAUDER.

When SIR HARRY LAUDER comes to BOSTON he can arrange to get haircut and shave from a man formerly employed by him, if he believes the song about "auld acquaintance." ARTHUR G. HUNTER of Gonic, N. H., who joined three branches of Uncle Sam's fighting forces in BOSTON during the World War, is proud of the fact that he once worked in one of LAUDER'S barber shops in bonny Scotland in pre-bobbing days.

NEW ENGLAND ASSETS.

Add to the assets of New England her large number of historical "shrines." PRESIDENT GEORGE HANNAUER of the BOSTON & MAINE evidently appreciates what an attraction these are to visitors, for the current publication of his railroad shows B. & M. buses drawn up in front of the JOHN PIERCE mansion at Portsmouth, N.H., designed by BULFIN[illegible], famous architect of the State [illegible] on BEACON HILL, back in 179[illegible].

How many people know that MAYOR NICHOLS has control of only forty cents on each dollar raised by taxation? The present tax rate of $31.80, subdivided, gives the Mayor $12.72.

VICE-PRESIDENT.

Friends of JEROME F. CROWLEY, for a number of years past cashier of the Exchange Trust Company savings department, will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed vice-president of McMICHAEL & CO., INC., investment brokers, on STATE STREET. JERRY was one of the most popular officials of the trust company and is known to practically every one of its thousands of depositors.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I WENT into my garden this morning.

It is a small garden, but alive with a tremendous busy-ness now that Spring is on the way.

Bright spears of grass are pushing up between the flagstones. The earth is heaving over the thick thrust of tulip buds. A frond of fern is lifting twenty times its weight in fallen leaves as it uncurls. A ridge of earth is rising, like a mimic barricade, above the place where I planted my sweet peas.

There is a flash and a fury everywhere in the moist brightness. Sitting very still, one can almost hear the turmoil of growing—the pushing and shoving—the fierce tussle of these small green things with the clods and gravel which lie in their way. Even the green shimmer is like the fragrant smoke of a mighty battle.

Savagery of Spring.

I do not think that I ever felt the savagery of Spring so keenly before. We're so accustomed to think of Spring as a sweet, tender season. But, though it is veiled in beauty and bound for a glorious harvest, this onrush of life isn't sweet and tender. It must be painfully difficult for those delicate seedlings to push their way through the soil. How much it costs to achieve the loveliness which will come next month! How busy they all are—how tense and determined—what a serious, hard job life is for even a blade of grass!

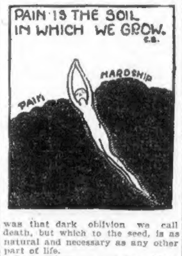
But I don't suppose the grass resents it—any more than that fat robin resents the constant toil and combat by which it gets its food. Any more than the earth resents the long travail of its evolution—the earthquakes and upheavals and eruptions, the storms and the droughts and floods which have shaped it from its first vague chaos.

Resented Pain.

I wish I could take my life as simply.

I have always resented pain and difficulty. We all do that. We're supposed to do that. In some way we humans have formed a tradition that life shouldn't be hard—that if it is hard—it isn't a success. We think of suffering and strain, struggle and death as hardships and impositions—things that mar and scar the normal course of human life.

Yet, there, in my growing garden, were struggle and strain on every hand. And preceding this there was that dark oblivion we call death, but which to the seed, is as natural and necessary as any other part of life.



PAIN IS THE SOIL IN WHICH WE GROW.
E.R.
HARDSHIP
PAIN

Such things are not impositions to the seed—they are natural. They are the soil in which that life is rooted. Without that burial in the soil, without that solid rooting in the soil—without the hardship of overcoming the soil, there can be no harvest.

What of my harvest? And the urge of life that runs through me as it runs through the grass? Are pain and hardship the soil in which I too must fight my way and root my growth?

Language and Thought

By Garrett P. Serviss,

A NEW ORLEANS reader asks if it has ever been definitely determined whether the gifted linguist thinks in the language in which he is conversing, or whether his thoughts occur in his native language and are readily translated into the particular tongue he is immediately using.

He adds that upon submitting this question to many persons, including even those who speak several languages fluently, he has failed to receive a satisfactory answer.

The subject is certainly an interesting one on account of its manifest bearing on the relation of language to the origin of thought. Much depends upon the manner in which a foreign language is learned.

Those who learned in the old way, i. e., by study of comparative grammar, by translation, etc., unavoidably retained the habit of thinking in the their native tongue while endeavoring to speak in another.

Their speech was an awkward translation. It was thus found that the only way to get the ability to think in a foreign language was to learn it directly by conversation in the presence of the things and ideas talked about.

The earlier in life the process was begun and the more completely the native tongue was excluded from the mind while the language to be learned was under consideration, the better and the more quickly the desired result was obtained.

It is upon these principles that the modern method of language teaching has been formed. Those who have thoroughly followed that method will, I believe, generally be found thinking in the language that they happen to be speaking.

I began early in life to study foreign languages in books, and this was continued in college days. The consequence is that now, with one partial exception, I am unable to think except in English.

In one foreign language, owing to personal contacts, I can speak, to a certain extent, without referring the thought to an English pattern. I consider that one is thinking in a language when its words and phrases come to the tongue without in any way recalling his native language.

The mere fact that a perfect translation of languages is impossible is enough to prove that no one is a real master of a foreign tongue unless he is able to think in it.

Nouns, it is true, may be exactly transposed, as the word for tree—"arbre" in French, "baum" in German, etc.; but expressions for ideas, symbols of abstract thought, words expressing sensations and sentiments, almost always have shades and turns of meaning peculiar to the thought of the people by whom they have been invented.
